

THE INFLUENCE OF THE MIGRATION ON THE LABOR MARKET IN ROMANIA

Constantin DUGULEANĂ*

Abstract: The paper consists of three parts. The first part presents the characteristics of labor market in Romania. The second part describes the equilibrium of labor market in Romania, considering the emigration phenomenon. The third part of the paper proposes a model for analyzing the flexibility of wages in Romania, considering the influences of the factors: prices' increasing, the labor productivity, the unemployment and the emigration rate.

Key words: equilibrium on labor market, real wages, flexibility and rigidity of wages, emigration rate

* Dept. of Finances, Accounting and Economic Theory, Transilvania University of Braşov.